The Horse's Eyes and Ears.
Never buy a horse that shies without first having a veterinarian examine his eyes for cataract, as the tendency to shy is more often than not the result of defective vision. It may be only a small, bluish white speck to begin with, but even at that stage it impairs the sight, and it is incurable, says a writer in Country Life in America. Any one versed in equine character reading can learn much from the way a horse carries his ears. If they are always "pricked up" or carried forward, he may be partly blind or deaf, or both. If the ears are always laid back he is nervous or vicious, and in either case will give you trouble.

Bee Marmalade.
The analysis of a remarkable Japanese confection is reported in a recent bulletin of the College of Agriculture in Tokyo. This is no less than a "bee marmalade," said to be made of young wild bees and seasoned with soy. The results of the analysis show that the reputed composition of the sweetmeat is quite correct. The marmalade is said to be exported in eight tin cans. A French commentator remarks sarcastically that it will doubtless be welcomed at tables where they serve grilled locusts, as in Africa, or the Chinese dainty made of silk-worm cocoons.

pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HOPKINTON.

School Committee Meets for Organization—Town Council Reappoints Officers.

The school committee held its quarterly meeting in the town hall Monday July 4th, with Chairman E. P. Mathewson and Superintendent Paul M. Barber present. Organization was perfected by the election of Rev. E. P. Mathewson, chairman; Clara A. Olney, clerk; and Paul M. Barber, superintendent of schools, at a salary of $400 payable quarterly. Mr. Barber presented his quarterly report as superintendent. Bills to the amount of $12.68 were ordered paid.

The board of assessors of Hopkinton, held their first meeting for 1910 in the town hall Tuesday morning. The notice of the meeting in August for the purpose of receiving accounts and assessing the taxes was read and signed. George N. Crandall was elected chairman and Everett P. Mathewson clerk.

Town Council Meets.
The town council held their monthly session Tuesday afternoon. As a special court they allowed and ordered recorded the final account of Geo. L. Palmer, Administrator on the estate of Angeline C. Palmer, and that of Harry B. Agard, Administrator on the estate of Rowland R. Rathbun. The inventory of the estate of William D. Perrin was also received for record. As a town council they ordered bills paid to the amount of $728.85. The names of jurors who have not served for two years were placed in the boxes and seven grand and seven petit jurors were drawn out. The bond of the town treasurer was fixed at $10,000 and that of town clerk at $200.

Notes.

END OF PET DETESTATION.

New Yorker Finally Rid of the Disputed High Hat.

There is a certain man in New York whose pet detestation is a high hat. In his journey through life he has acquired many dislikes, some prejudices, and a few hatreds—but his feeling toward a high hat goes far beyond the limits implied by the mild word "hatred."

However, family influences were brought to bear on him when he had reached the proper milestone in his life, and these influences were so strong and insistent that eventually the man in question purchased a high hat; what is more, he actually donned it.

But his hatred abated not a jot. In fact, it grew. He used to open his bathrobe and eye the hat viciously, murderously. But thoughts of what the family would say if he should adopt violent measures always deterred him, and every time he shut the box again, leaving the thing unharmed, and vented his rage in profanity.

Once he and his family went to live at a hotel in the country. And one night, with appalling suddenness, that hotel caught fire.

Fortunately, everybody in it was able to get out in safety. The young man of the hat, after counting heads, and seeing that his people were out of danger, decided to dash into the burning building once more—there was still a bit of time—in order to see whether he might rescue a few more things from his room. In the excitement attendant on the discovery of the fire the hotel guests had been obliged to look to their personal safety, without thinking overmuch of that of their belongings.

Well, the young man, plunging gallantly through flame and smoke, reached his room. There, the first thing which caught his eye was the high hat.

With a look of diabolical glee he regarded it for a few seconds. Then—with an exclamation of delight—he kicked it into the innermost part of the room. Into crackling flame and eddying smoke, far from all possible means of escape.

Then, diabolical glee still illumining his features, he emerged a happy man.

WHEN PA GIVES INFORMATION.

Just the Chance for Display of His Sense of Humor.

"Pa, what is a hypochondriac?"
"A hypochondriac, Wilfred?"
"But just a moment, 'Pa' in this anecdote is not a good and kind father, yearning to impart useful information to his son, but one of those smart answer-givers whose main object in life is to get into the back pages of the magazines. Such fathers look upon their little sons, groping for knowledge, as providers of openings for senseless domestic epigrams. Hence—but we'll go back."

"Pa" takes off his glasses and looks benignly at his son.
"What did you say, my boy?"
"Pa, what is a hypochondriac?"
That gives "Pa" his chance.

"A hypochondriac, Wilfred"—names like Wilfred add humor to this sort of thing. John, for instance, would fall flat and James would be indefinitely worse; but to resume—"a hypochondriac, Wilfred, is a man who has such a dread of catching cold that, whenever he takes a bath, he stops up all the holes in the sponge for fear of draughts."

And Wilfred not quite seven years old! Isn't it a shame?

OBSERVANT PEOPLE ARE JAPS.

Trouble Is They Are Liable to Carry It to Extremes.

The Japanese are a most imitative and observant people and copy everything they see with minute fidelity. A Newport man recently engaged a Japanese valet, who was very attentive and satisfactory.

His duties rarely took him into the kitchen, but when he had a chance of watching the cook he did so with extraordinary interest.

The cook caught a severe chill and left somewhat suddenly. The lady of the house was in despair, as she could not replace her.

At last the valet, announced diffidently that he thought he could cook a little and the mistress gladly agreed to give him a trial.

The first thing he started on was potatoes. He took off his shoes and socks and put his feet in a bath of hot mustard and water.

The lady wanted to know what on earth he was doing. He replied that he saw the cook do that when she was peeling the potatoes, and nothing would persuade him that this was not a necessary part of the process.

The Thundering Legion.

In the year A. D. 174 a Roman legion, made up wholly or in part of Christians, fought under Marcus Antonius against the Marcomanni. The Roman army was shut up in a defile and ready to perish with thirst, when a severe thunder storm with heavy rain, relieved them of their distress, and at the same time so terrified their enemies that a great victory was gained. The Christians attributed their deliverance to the prayers they had just presented, and considered it miraculous, and the term "Thundering Legion" was applied to the soldiers.—New York American.

Moroccan Proverbs.

In an article on the people of Morocco a writer in Figaro says: "They have some queer adages and some that closely resemble ours. Thus, they say: 'The camel cannot see its hump, but plainly sees one on its neighbor.' 'He who depends on his neighbor will go to bed hungry.' 'A wise enemy is better than a stupid friend.' 'Cross the rushing stream, but beware of the quiet, noiseless one.' 'In this world there are three things not to be trusted—luck, women and horses.' 'Mounting a horse, losing the hunting dogs and hearing earrings rattle drives dull care away.'"

Love and the Law.

Now love makes the mind clean and clear, so that it stops liking unclean things like bad food and ugly squeezed bodies and cigars. And love makes the mind kindly, so that it does not yearn for more than its share of other people's money. So in the gaining or the maintaining of health, too, love is the fulfilling of the law.

And how about beauty? Why, beauty is merely health—plus love. Therefore, if you have love you have all things, for all things are ruled by law; love is the fulfilling of the law.—Nautlius.

One Sure Thing.

If railroads can't get popular sympathy and higher rates they will be satisfied to take higher rates.—Washington Post.

He Hits Back.
There had been a domestic spat at breakfast.
"You monster!" snapped the matron, who was always scolding, "you are not like my two former husbands. They were tender men!"
"I never doubted that they were tender, Maria," ventured the meek man, "when you kept them in hot water all the time." And he just cleared the front porch two yards ahead of the rolling pin.

Cruel Cander.
"Was that glass Mrs. Shoddy gave the bride for a wedding present the real thing? She declared it was."
"She told the truth. She got it at a marked-down bargain sale, so whatever the material, it was really cut glass."

Flashy young Woman.—I called to see if you didn't require a beautiful model. Artist—Why, have you got a friend?—Boston Transcript.

New Light on Kleptomania.
The detective, closely regarding the women at the lace counter, talked about shopping.
"It's undeniable," he said, "that it's a kind of craze. The majority of women I catch are women of means; there is no earthly reason why they should steal. And they are of a nervous, hysterical type, the type you can hypnotize."
"That makes me ready to believe what some of the doctors now claim—namely, that kleptomaniacs are the unsuccessfully hypnotized subjects of salesmen. The salesmen desire them to buy and often hypnotize them into buying—don't you know what trash shoppers bring home?—but often, too, they only partially hypnotize them, and then the women steal."
"This new idea strikes me as plausible because kleptomaniacs are nearly always of the impressionable type that yields the readiest to the hypnotist's will."

Why Have an Overheated Kitchen in Summer?

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

What a contrast! The kitchen no longer is stifling hot, the work is now done with comfort, and the housewife is not worn out with the heat.

She saves her strength, keeps her health and is better able to enjoy the summer.

The New Perfection does everything that any other stove can do—all the family cooking, baking, washing and ironing. No smoke, no dust, no odor. Heat is applied directly and not wasted. A turn, and the flame is out.

The New Perfection stove has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot, drop shelves for the coffee pot or saucepans, and nicked towel racks.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove very attractive and invites cleanliness. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

'T WILL HELP YOU

Woman's Relief

Dr. Krugers Viburn-O-Gin Compound, the woman's remedy, has been known for years as "Woman's Relief," since it has positively proven its great value in the treatment of womanly diseases.

It will help you, if you are a sufferer from any of the ills peculiar to women, which can be reached by medicine. It has helped thousands of other sick women, as grateful letters from them clearly describe. It contains no poisonous drugs.

For nervousness, irritability, headache, backache, pressing-down pains, and other symptoms of general female weakness, this compound has been found quick and safe.

"I think Viburn-O-Gin is the best remedy for weak women. It does me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I cannot praise it strong enough. I think it is the best woman's medicine on earth."

You'll feel like writing a similar letter if you try it.
